and not a meaningless accumulation of facts and of so-called culture. Too many are educated for uselessness. To train young men and women to a high conception of the duties of life and to equip them with the ability to do a man's and a woman's work in the world is the mission of the Utah Agricultural College. Instruction is given in AGRICULTURE (agrono my, horticulture, husbandry, and veterinary science), HOME ECONOMICS (cooking, sewing, millinery, sanitation, and home management), COMMERCE (typ ewriting, stenography, accounting, business correspondence, and bookkeeping), ME-CHANIC ARTS (woodwork, I ron work and machine work), AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERING (irrigation, drainage, farm mechanics, agricultural technology, agricultural surveying, roads, rural architecture, and rural sanitation)

Training is also given in physics, chemistry, biology, mathematics, English, music, art, physical education, and all the general subjects of an education. Work begins SEPTEMBER 22ND. A letter to the president will be always welcome.
